By Thomas Turner, as Author

Turner, Thomas.
An epitome of Book-keeping by double entry; delineated on a scale suited to the faculties and comprehension of Senior school boys and youth; designed for the mercantile line. Comprising systematic and unerring rules for the forming monthly statements of books, as well as those for opening, conducting, adjusting [and closing] them, with explanations of theory and exhibitions of practice, rendered easy to the smallest capacity, and calculated to initiate them in the true Principles, and to make them perfect in the Rules by a little practice; to which are added rules for keeping retail books by double entry, without altering the process of single entry in the Day book or Journal, for all sales of Merchandise, by which one half the writing is saved, and the Ledger exonerated from Items, and rendered a prompt and sure proof of monthly balances and annual profit. Also the most easy and concise and safe way of calculating any rate per cent, and especially that of interest at six per cent per annum. 60 seconds ... make ... 1 minute
60 minutes ... make ... 1 hour
24 hours ... make ... 1 day.
March 21st and Sept. 21st the Sun rises at 6 o'clock in the East, and sets at 6 o'clock in the West. This will certify that the East and West Longitudes are discovered by the seven stars of the Pladies of the Heavens, by the rotation of the Earth; counting 180 degrees East, and as many West: 15 degrees make an hour of time - therefore count from the meridian both East and West.

The discovery was made by Caleb Pool, of Gloucester, as revealed to him by a Celestial being from above, and to be taught by masters of his choice.

Universalism confounds and destroys itself; or, Letters to a Friend, in four parts. Part I. Dr. Huntington's and Mr. Relly's Scheme, which denies all future punishment, shewn to be made up of contradictions. Part II. Dr. Chauncy's, Mr. Winchester's Petitpierre's, and medical Dr. Young's scheme which supposes a limited punishment hereafter, shown to be made up of contradictions. Part III. Everlasting forever, and ever, naturally and originally, mean duration without end. Part IV. The sufficiency of the Atonement, for the salvation of all, consistent with the final destruction of a part of mankind. Also the Second Death explained. Interspersed with direct arguments in proof of the endless misery of the damned. And answers to the popular objections, of the present day, against the Doctrines of Grace. By Josiah Spaulding, A.M. A celestial Planisphere or Map of the Heavens comprehending the whole sphere of the fixed stars except the parts within the polar circles constructed according to Mercator's principles. By William Croswell, A.M. Teacher of Navigation.

No copy located; probably none published.
MH: The preface to the author's "Description and explanation of the mercator map of the starry heavens; with its application in the solution of problems" (Boston: From the press of John Eliot, June, 1810) contains the following statement:

"The idea of a Mercator map of the stars having occurred to me some years since, I sketched one in the year 1804, and published proposals for it at Boston in 1805. In 1806, I carried the map to England. None similar were seen, yet the dealers in such productions gave no encouragement. At my return, in the fall of 1809, the undertaking was patronized by some gentlemen of Boston. ..."

Morse, Jedidiah.
The American Universal Geography: or a view of the present state of all the Empires, Kingdoms, States and Republics in the known World and of the United States of America in particular. In two parts. The first part treats of Astronomical Geography, and other useful preliminaries to the study of Geography, in an enlarged and improved introduction - of the western American continent - of its discovery - its aboriginal inhabitants and whence they came - its divisions - but more particularly of the U.S. of America, generally and individually - of their situation, extent, civil divisions, rivers, lakes, climate, mountains, soil, produce, natural history, commerce, manufactures, population, character, curiosities, waters, springs, mines and minerals, military strength, government, islands, history of the war, and the succeeding events - closing with a view of the British, Spanish, French, Portuguese, and other dominions on the continent and in the West Indies. The second part describes at large, and from the latest and best authorities, the present state in respect to the above mentioned particulars of the Eastern Continent and its Islands as divided into Europe, Asia and Africa and subdivided into Empires, Kingdoms and Republicks. To which are added an improved catalogue of names, and places, and their geographical situation, alphabetically arranged, an enlarged chronological table of remarkable events from the creation to the present time: a list of ancient and modern learned and eminent men: - and a table of all the monies of the world reduced to federal currency. The whole comprehending a complete and improved system of modern Geography. Calculated for Americans. Illustrated with six maps, and accompanied by a new and general Atlas of the world containing (in a seperate [sic.; volume) sixty three maps and comprising all the new discoveries to the present time. By Jedidiah Morse, D.D., F.A.A., S.H.S. Minister of the Congregational Church in Charlestown. Part first. The Introduction revised by Samuel Webber, A.M. Hollis Professor of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy in the University of Cambridge. Published according to Act of Congress. Fifth edition corrected and improved.
